

The Saskatchewan tour of The Stampeders starts Sunday at Moose Jaw. Other dates are: Estevan, July 1; Saskatoon, July 2; North Battleford, July 3; Prince Albert, July 4; Regina (Saskatchewan of the Arts), July 5, and Swift Current, July 6.

Lorence Hud, the Saskatoon native who now records for A and M Records, is guest performer with The Stampeders. Hud's latest album, Dancin' in My Head, has been a big seller and much of the success was traced to his alliance with producer Norbert Putnam.

Hud's first album had been a solo effort, and he played all the instruments himself. With Putnam's assistance, the recording session became big league, and some top Nashville musicians participated.
